

Legend for Hawaiian Hula Instruments & Implements

1. PŪNIU: small knee drum with fish-skin top, over a large coconut-shell base, made with coconut fiber cordage and a base ring of tapa (bark cloth) over coiled vines.
2. PŪ'ILI: slit-bamboo wands which rustle as they strike shoulders, palms, or each other during dance.
3. KŪPE'E: smooth shells or dogs' canine teeth fixed to a stout netting and worn on the calves to make a clicking sound during dance steps.
4. IPU HEKE: "drum" made from two gourds glued and stitched together, with tapa handle and burned-in decoration.
5. 'ILI'ILI: "castanets" of water-worn hard basalt stones found at seashore.
6. 'ULĪ'ULĪ: gourd rattle with tapa and feather-fringed top, with small pebbles or hard seeds inside.
7. KĀLA'AU: dance sticks of very hard wood which are struck together to rhythm.
8. PAHU HULA: hula drum with sharkskin top, coconut fiber cordage and carved from mature coconut wood.
